

Late Withdrawals from Courses

Students who do not withdraw from a course by the withdrawal date established by the Registrars office must complete the course with a grade. Students who have major medical or personal issues, and who wish to withdraw after the deadline, may have their request denied even with documentation. It is always the student's responsibility to ensure their academic progress and be cognizant of university policies.