

UMass

| Dartmouth

CHARLTON COLLEGE OF BUSINESS

Student Clubs and Organizations

Student organizations within the Charlton College of Business provide opportunities for all students within a major, by giving them opportunities to serve in positions of leadership, serve the community, and learn more about their field of study. Each organization is guided, but not controlled, by a faculty advisor and is supported by targeted donations, fund-raising activities and allocations from the Student Senate.

Charlton College of Business

Charlton College of Business
University of Massachusetts Dartmouth
285 Old Westport Road
Dartmouth, Massachusetts 02747

Student Clubs and Organizations

Student clubs give your education an extra edge:

MAKING CONNECTIONS, CREATING NETWORKS

Rotaract Club

(Combination of Rotary and Action)

This student-run community service organization is sponsored by the Fall River, New Bedford and Fairhaven Rotary Clubs. Through involvement in various service events, Rotaract members have the opportunity to network with local business professionals, give back to the community, acquire leadership skills, grow personally and professionally, make lifetime friendships and have fun! The club's motto is "service above self".

Faculty Advisor:

Kellyann Kowalski, kkowalski@umassd.edu

Accounting Association

The Accounting Association is a student-run organization, which sponsors a wide range of accounting-oriented programs, lectures and workshops in order to assist students in bridging the gap between the theory of the classroom and the reality of accounting practice. The Association provides information and opportunities that assist our members in obtaining internship and fulltime employment after college and serves as a platform to begin professional networking. All accounting students and those interested in the field are encouraged to join.

Faculty Advisors:

Peter Hostak, phostak@umassd.edu

Fred Jones, fjones@umassd.edu

Entrepreneurship Club

(Being Developed)

Please contact Dr. Papenhausen if interested in a student leadership position.

Faculty Advisor:

Chris Papenhausen, cpapenhausen@umassd.edu

Finance Club

The Finance Club is an informative support group for finance students and faculty. Students learn how to apply their skills and knowledge and to enhance their resume through participation and leadership opportunities. The club also offers its members a chance to interact with colleagues having similar educational and social interests.

Faculty Advisors:

Ravi Mateti, rmateti@umassd.edu

Gopala Vasudevan, gvasudevan@umassd.edu

Investment Club

The Investment Club helps students learn about investment strategies by participating in a simulated portfolio investment competition with other interested students. Faculty and investment professionals present workshops and lectures that augment information provided in courses. Additionally, students in the club have an opportunity to become a future officer in the UMass Dartmouth Student Managed Investment Fund (currently $25,000). The club serves as a great place to socialize and network with potential employers. It is open to all UMass Dartmouth undergraduates.

Faculty Advisor:

Michael Anderson, manaderson@umassd.edu

Students in Free Enterprise (SIFE)

SIFE is a worldwide non-profit organization that partners with various businesses and institutions of higher education to better local communities in more than forty nations. In developing community outreach projects that promote financial literacy, market economics, success skills, business ethics and entrepreneurship, student teams are able to direct what they are learning in the classroom toward solving real world problems. By participating in an annual competition, students develop teamwork, leadership and communication skills. By educating and serving others, students begin to realize their own potential.

Faculty Advisor:

Godwin Ariguzo, gariguzo@umassd.edu

Operations Management and Information Systems Club (OMIS)

The primary goals for this club are to promote and enhance Operations Management and Management Information Systems education at CCB and to cultivate future job prospects, networking and internships in these fields via invited speakers, presentations, plant visits, projects, etc. These types of activities would be a great enhancement to the students' resumes.

Faculty Advisors:

Soheil Sibdari, ssibdari@umassd.edu

Ercan Tirtiroglu, etirtiroglu@umassd.edu

International Business Association (IBA)

The IBA is one of the largest campus-wide activities at UMass Dartmouth and builds social and professional bridges between UMass Dartmouth students and students abroad. In addition to comprehensive research and service trips abroad, the IBA visits major and local cities to study international business practices and participates in seminars and forums focusing on the impact of trade agreements on local industry.

Faculty Advisors:

Godwin Ariguzo, gariguzo@umassd.edu

Steve White, swhite@umassd.edu

Millennium Advertising

This student-run advertising club connects the UMass Dartmouth community to both the American Advertising Federation and the American Marketing Association. It gives students the opportunity to work in a fully functional business organization and to gain real world business experience with their peers as co-workers. Any and all students with UMass Dartmouth are welcome to join.

Faculty Advisor:

Steve White, swhite@umassd.edu

Net Impact UMass Dartmouth

This organization provides individuals with the ability to network with business leaders in the growing field of Corporate Social Responsibility. Students get access to hundreds of job and internship postings. Also, students can develop new skills through nonprofit capacity-building projects in the community, workplace and on campus, among many more advantageous opportunities. This organization is made up of MBAs, graduate students and professionals who are committed to using business for a positive social, environmental and economic impact.

Faculty Advisors:

Steve White, swhite@umassd.edu

Adam Sulkowski, asulkowski@umassd.edu