Self-Service Software Applications

CITS has configured self-service applications for both the Mac and Windows OS. These portals contain certified installers for approved software applications and allow for installation on University owned computers without the need for administrative access.

Mac OS Self Service

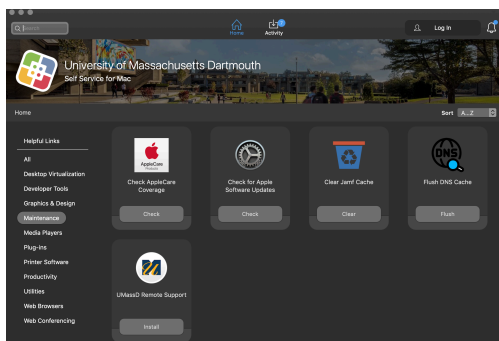

Access the Self Service application in one of 3 ways:

Select the icon from your dock

Open it from the Applications folder

Search for Self Service application in the Finder window

Once you've opened the application, you will see non-licensed software available for installation. For access to licensed software, please login with your UMassD login credentials.

← Login location

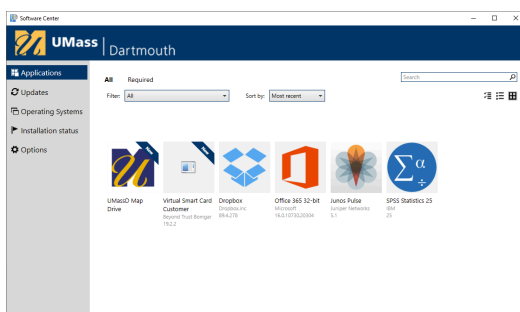

Windows OS Software Center

Access the Software Center application in one of 2 ways:

Go to the Windows menu and select Microsoft Endpoint Manager and then select Software Center

Search for Software Center in the Search field

Once you've opened the application, you will see software and updates available for installation as well as the status of installed applications.
