Business Advisory Board/Alumnus Spotlight

Mayra E. Perez was born and raised in Jalapa, Guatemala. In 2008 she received her BS degree in Human Resource Management with International Business minor from the University of Massachusetts Dartmouth. Mayra was a member of the UMass Dartmouth SIFE team from 2007 to 2008 and served as the project coordinator and leader of the Market Economics Education Project (MEEP) at Carney Academy Elementary School in New Bedford, MA, which taught 4th and 5th graders the importance of business skills. She is currently employed as a Web Publisher in the international division of MEDITECH. Mayra credits her SIFE experience for her commitment to volunteerism. She is passionate about her favorite cause, building a community center in the village of Santo Domingo, in Jalapa, Guatemala. In summer 2010 she traveled back to Guatemala and led the effort to submit a proposal along with 300 signatures of community members to request an expansion of the sewage system for the village. Given her passion and work ethic we have no doubt that she would soon realize her dream.
