Facts & Figures

With a focus on our students and a commitment to providing an enriched educational environment, the College of Engineering at UMass Dartmouth creates and disseminates knowledge through research and teaching. U.S. News & World Report ranks the College of Engineering in the top 150 engineering schools among doctorate granting universities, and UMass Dartmouth as a national research university.

6 academic departments, approximately 1,000 undergraduate students, 16 academic program areas, and more than 350 graduate students.

Best Undergraduate Engineering Program - U.S. News & World Report, 2022 College Rankings

$106M UMass Dartmouth students receive approximately $106 million total in scholarships, grants, part-time employment, and loans.

#4 as a best value Massachusetts college for in-state students – Payscale

84% of full-time undergraduates who apply for financial aid receive it.

160 internships completed by 2021 engineering seniors at companies such as Titleist, Bose Corporation, eBay, Hewlett-Packard, National Grid, and Pratt & Whitney

96% of 2021 graduates from the College of Engineering are either employed or attending graduate school.

15 ranked in the top 15 schools nationwide for master’s degrees in physics among institutions granting the MS – American Physical Society

#1 for social mobility among universities in New England with a nationally ranked college of engineering - 2022 U.S. News & World Report

Top 1% in engineering of institutions nationwide awarding doctoral degrees to women – ASEE (2021)

Top 150 engineering schools among doctorate granting universities, and UMass Dartmouth as a national research university - U.S. News & World Report

$66,000 average entry-level salary for 2021 graduates with a bachelor’s degree in engineering

$2.5M Endowed scholarships for engineering students

$16M Current research funding

#13 as Best Online Master’s in Computer Science Degrees in 2022* - Fortune

#30 for best online master’s programs in computer science - College Choice

The bioengineering, civil, computer, electrical, and mechanical engineering programs at UMass Dartmouth are accredited by the Engineering Accreditation Commission of ABET

The computer science program is accredited by the Computing Accreditation Commission of ABET.